Eastern Illinois Foodbank Co-Hosts Community Panel Discussion on Poverty & Violence

URBANA, Illinois – Eastern Illinois Foodbank, in coordination with the Illinois Commission on the Elimination of Poverty, will host a speaker panel and community conversation about poverty and violence on Monday, June 12. The discussion will be held from 6:30-7:45pm at the CityView Banquet Center, inside the Illinois Terminal Building (45 E University Ave. Champaign).

The event is open to the public and members of the community are strongly encouraged to attend. The discussion will focus on Cycle of Risk, Heartland Alliance's 2017 Report on Illinois Poverty, exploring the relationship between poverty, violence and trauma. Panelists include State Representative Carol Ammons, Tracy Parsons (Community Coalition of Champaign County), Victor Dickson (Safer Foundation) and Katie Buitrago (Heartland Alliance).

1.7 million Illinoisans, nearly 14% of the state's population, lives below the federal poverty line. Since the Commission's creation in 2008 there have been dramatic changes in the economy and the political landscape and the number of people experiencing poverty has continued to increase, necessitating a renewed commitment and focus from the Commission.

"Eastern Illinois Foodbank is pleased to partner with the Commission on the Elimination of Poverty in presenting this community conversation," said Jim Hires, President and CEO of the Foodbank. "This is one of the many tools the Commission uses to learn first-hand the effects of poverty on individuals & communities and what efforts they need to support to change things across our state."

Hires, along with Andy Kulczycki of Community Services Center of Northern Champaign County (CSCNCC), are local appointed members of the Commission. Also in attendance at this important community conversation will be Commissioners from across the state, representatives from various state agencies, the Governor's office, community leaders, private foundations, researchers, advocates and human services providers.
